

Ben Tsalalas and Georgina Macmillan (above), Shelley Horton and David Emery (right).

Butcher Danny Woodward works his magic on a rack of lamb.

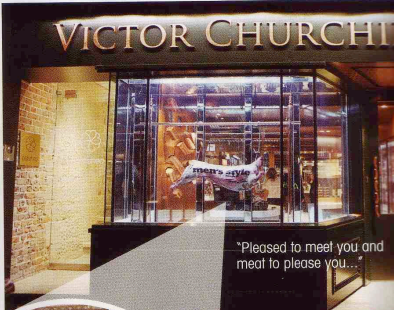

MEN OF STYLE | SYDNEY

Tom Williams couldn't understand the fuss. "Meat and bokes go hand-in-hand, don't they?" said TW, when asked if he thought it weird Men's Style would celebrate its Men of Style for 2010 in a butcher's shop. Then again, Victor Churchill, in leafy Woollahra, is not your average kind of butchery – the quality of the meat matched only by its slick, multi-million dollar interiors and wonderful staff. So, if this event wasn't so odd, it certainly had some unique moments. Gentleman butcher Danny Woodward carving up some choice cuts while guests gazed not only at his skills but the Thomas Sabo timepieces and jewellery occupying their sponsorship place on the other two chopping blocks. Bowler-hatted Alex Dimitriadis, there to hook-up with his Kings of Mykonos co-star Vince Colosimo, channelling his namesake from A Clockwork Orange further when he conducted a TV interview brandishing a meat cleaver. Editor Peter Holder apologising on

men's style Thomas Sabo

"Pleased to meet you and meat to please you..."

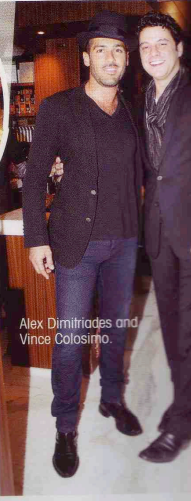

Tim Ross checks out the meat-packing district (above); Bianca Sulkowicz and Laura Campbell (right).

Christopher Montison and Mark Patrick.

Barry Goodwin, Gino "The Silver Fox" Campagnaro and Zach Gallifianakis.

Alex Dimitriadis and Vince Colosimo.

Dale McKie and Kim Payne (above); Tom Williams (right), gift-bag goodies.

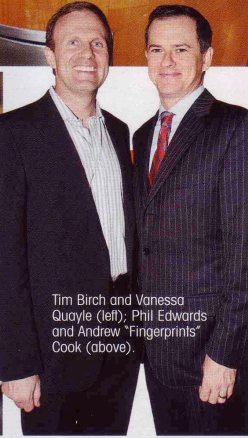

behalf of non-attendees – Tom Ford, Johnny Depp, Kanye West etc – blaming Sydney's ongoing traffic problems as the reason behind their no-show. Holder redeemed himself for dropping some god-awful meat puns by turving one of the Harbour City's more notorious gatecrashers before he could get his sticky mitts on a giftbag – which included goodies from Onitsuka Tiger, Clinique, EA, Colgate, Burberry, Prema, MJ Bale, Eaton, Aveda and Cape Mentelle.

William Cahill

Tim Birch and Vanessa Quoyale (left); Phil Edwards and Andrew "Fingerprints" Cook (above).

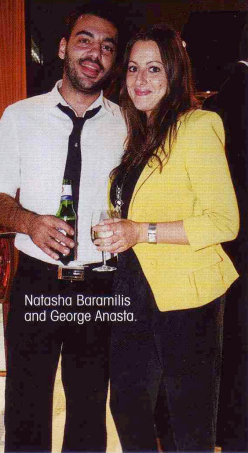

Jorja Windus and Alfred Gock.

Michelle Lopez and James Currah.

Alex Knight and Matt Jensen (above); Peter Holder and Celeste Ferris (right).

Natasha Baramilis and George Anasta.

Danny Woodward and Anthony Puharich.